

FOR ONE DAY ONLY...

PAY-AS-YOU-FEEL TAKEAWAY LUNCH

Get your takeaway lunch from the Magic Hat Café and Linguacuisine at Newcastle University's Digital Kitchen

The Magic Hat Café is coming to campus to serve a lunch made entirely from food that would otherwise have gone to landfill! They'll also help you reduce food waste at home by teaching you the recipe, which uses frequently wasted foods.

The Magic Hat Café & the Linguacuisine app

The pay-as-you-feel takeaway lunch will be served from iLab:Learn Room B83 of King George VI Building on Wed 5th December, 12-2pm, and will launch the contribution of their recipes to the free Linguacuisine app, which helps you to learn a language while you're cooking: read more at <https://linguacuisine.com/>

So you can just drop in and take away a great lunch, or you can stay and learn about the Magic Hat Café and the Linguacuisine app, maybe watching the chefs prepare a meal in Spanish or Italian.

The Magic Hat Café CIC collects food that would otherwise be wasted from around the city, and turns it into delicious meals instead. They exchange their food for pay-as-you-feel donations of money, time or skills. They are at Byker Community Centre every Friday, 5.30-8pm, and they're also currently crowdfunding to open their own premises in the city centre.
